What is the screen coming to? Without more than casual warning it is announced that Lowell Sherman is a hero—a real, pulsating hero in "The Wilderness Woman" at the Metropolitan next week. For the first time in his long stage and screen career of six Mr. Sherman wins a nice girl for a happy ending. Mr. Sherman says he is proud of himself at last.

TALENT FILLS FROM THITHER TO YON

By NICHOLAS YOUNG.

WHEN a famous film magazine from the West Coast, in a moment of elation between soup and salad, publicly asserted that pictures are driving vaudeville out of the amusement field, there were lurches from the attending filmsters. No one who pretends to any knowledge of methods and results in amusements will deny that here and there and, perhaps, elsewhere the cinema has landed some jarring wallop on the protruding chin of its low cost rival, but, like the heroine of Beatrice Lillie's song, "there's life in the old girl yet." Vaudeville may grow threadbare in spots, but it never will be completely subdued by banquet table oratory.

As a matter of cold statistics—if you can properly employ that term—the musical comedy stage is, possibly, a more deadly enemy to vaudeville than pictures, for out of the so-called two-day theatre have come many stars of the current entertainments in film, frivolity and merriment. It is always open season for poaching in vaudeville by managers of Broadway music and dancing shows. In our own "Merry Merry" at the Plymouth vaudeville is gorgeously represented by Harry Puck, whose exploits for many seasons thrilled and cheered customers at Mr. Albee's theatre. One of the most recent to forsake his first love, Mr. Puck insists that if it were not for vaudeville the musical comedy stage would be hard pressed for talent.

Of course, you do not have to believe all that Mr. Puck preaches, though there is a ring of sincerity in his words. At the outset he reminds you that the odds are at least twenty to one that your favorite musical comedy star is a product of the vaudeville stage, and then he will run off a list of names of staggering length. "How well I can remember," he explained, "when I played on the same bill with Marilyn Miller, who in these days was one of the Four Columbias; and with Ed Wynn and Eddie Cantor, to say nothing of Florence Moore and the Clairs." And then, for good measure, he assures you that Elsie Davis was once "Little Elsie" on Mr. Keith's circuit and that Rose Ponselle, of operatic fame, also has lifted high and rare notes for variety patrons.

MR. COHAN, ACCORDING TO REPORTS IS MOST ASSIDUOUS RAIDER IN FORBIDDEN FIELD

NATURALLY, Mr. Puck does not let the name of George M. Cohan escape his list of musical comedy notables who have sprung from the lovely vaudeville stage, nor does he fail to jog your memory to the fact that whenever a new Cohan show is in the making vaudeville always is raided for dancing loaves, comedy outfits and what not. "At the rate musical comedy producers are now stripping vaudeville of its best talent it might appear that disaster is impending," he went on. "In vaudeville it will be able to sustain the shock, for it is the training ground for young artists in vaudeville in the natural order for youthful talent—for dancers, for singers and for acrobats. Boys and girls with no reputation, if they learn the show through the vaudeville mill and come out with their names in electric lights."

PAIDING only for breath, Mr. Puck need into a fresh start: would like to tell you why musical comedy is benefited by vaudeville; it is because vaudeville audiences are more hard boiled than those who take on the higher priced shows, and because the vaudeville must train himself to put on a "stiff" in ten or fifteen minutes. In musical comedy I have an extra evening in which to win an audience. I may fail in my first number, but I still have others to follow. Competition is keener in vaudeville; you never can tell when the preceding bill has had the same kind of an act, and the same cost, or not better, than your own. These are the stimulating things that keep you up to concert pitch.

IN a vaudeville bill complications always are popping up to disturb the artist. To a sensitive soul it is no easy task to follow Ed Wynn one week and then be asked to make way for a collection of trained seals the next week. I recall hearing a famous legitimate star say: "One cannot hope to entertain an audience with excerpts from Shakespeare following a gentleman who is an expert in the art of juggling five billiard balls and balancing a cane on his ear at the same time." And that is vaudeville. A comedian attributed to Alan Duddy a story of the relation of vaudeville to musical comedy. He said: "I don't know why it is, but everyone I see in a show that I like seems to have come from vaudeville."

Arlen Requirements Come Hard on Leading Man

The good-looking chap who has the pleasant duty of "playing opposite" Katharine Cornell in "The Green Hat" at the Wilbur, is Leslie Howard, and the manner in which he fulfills his duty is a rather unique one. Leslie Howard, a tall, thin, and handsome young man, is a native of New York and has been in the theatre since he was a boy. He is a very popular actor and has been in many successful plays. In "The Green Hat" he plays opposite Katharine Cornell, who is one of the most famous actresses in the world. Leslie Howard is a very talented actor and has been in many successful plays. FILMSTER HAS HARD TIMES HIT HUB WITH BEAR

By LEO GAFFNEY.

There is a soft sentiment that the natural boxing instinct, not to be denied, sooner or later overcomes the abstinence and leads him back to joyful domestic reunion. Poets have proclaimed the pleasant inclination and the world has been going along in sympathetic agreement.

In the grip of these emotions, the enthusiastic dramatist on Mary Young at the Copley feels to him to be a natural inclination to the fight. The rush to meet the lady with much more than a mere inclination to the fight. The rush to meet the lady with much more than a mere inclination to the fight.

Nevertheless, there is a grave error in such procedure—proven in the case of one blundering visitor who sought to do so. In this case, the mistake that was a victory well, and he was not a Bostonian after all, and, severely, this otherwise fair city is not a desert of the desert.

But, at the end of the day, the natural inclination to the fight. The rush to meet the lady with much more than a mere inclination to the fight. The rush to meet the lady with much more than a mere inclination to the fight.

A Shining Light

Yiddish Art Theatre Will Hold Over Next Week

The success of the Yiddish Art Theatre Players at the Grand Opera House, especially in their presentation of "The Green Hat," has resulted in the company's decision to prolong their stay in the city.

They begin their third and final week tomorrow night with a single performance. "The Green Hat" will be given over to successive performances of "The Deluge," thus affording further opportunity to the large number who have not been able to see the company in previous showings of this season's production.

The company remains intact and the same players will enact the production in the Grand Opera House.

W.C.T.U. FUND UNDER SLICE 'FOOT' PROBE

"White Ribboners" Give Pinch
Cost $250,000; Is Claim:
Wheeler on Grill Monday

Washington, June 18 (U.S.N.S.)—The Senate "White Fund" committee decided today to investigate the expenditure of a $250,000 fund raised by the W.C.T.U. of Pennsylvania for "White Ribboners" in the past year.

The fund was turned over either to Governor Duffell Pinchot or to the Pennsylvania committee, and a detailed account of its expenditure was never furnished to the members of the W.C.T.U. The committee decided to ask Pinchot whether it was used on behalf of "White Ribboners" and whether it was used for the purpose of "White Ribboning."

The committee ordered a subpoena for Mrs. E. G. G. Pinchot, president of the W.C.T.U. of Pennsylvania, Mrs. M. J. M. Pinchot, secretary, and Mrs. M. J. M. Pinchot, treasurer, to appear before the committee on Monday.

IF OPPORTUNITY offers, get a good piece of land between Portland, Me., and San Diego, or between Seattle and Miami. Don't wait. That is repeated.

Three or four years ago the Vanderbilt New York house at Fifty-seventh street and Fifth avenue was offered at four and one-half million. Frederick C. Brown, asked by this writer why he didn't pick up such a bargain—Brown is the biggest real estate operator in the country—said: "Oh, it's dirt cheap, of course, but like to buy things that I can sell to any one of a thousand customers. Buyers are limited for a place like that."

Before he sailed for Europe recently Mr. Brown arranged to buy that same Vanderbilt house for $7,100,000. It cost him $2,600,000 to wait.

that he had room to see. When a friend called the attention to the mystery surrounding the finding of the body in Quarry Pond, she went at once in life. Bodily in the next day.

The body had a bullet wound in the left temple. This seemed to contradict the statement that the body was found because it was pointed out that the bullet wound in the head is usually found on the right side.

Every effort was made by police to identify the body at the time it was found and for three months afterward. Because of the similarity in appearance of the dead person to several other women and one from last abandoned.

Katz was eighteen years old when Dr. Brinkley read from his file a description of the body found in Quarry Pond. Mrs. Weston immediately identified it as that of Charles D. Katz.

The vest which she produced was a dark-colored, striped coat and trousers in which the body was found.

Because Katz had a perfect set of teeth, Dr. Brinkley was able to identify the body as that of Charles D. Katz.

HUB SMART SET TENDS WAY TO CYDE PARK RACE MEET TODAY

At right, mother of bride, Mrs. Wilbur Grant, wearing a smart costume of pastel chiffon banded in sable and carrying orchids. Mrs. Grant is the daughter of the late William Mayo, Hub merchant.

At left, newlyweds who are planning to spend honeymoon beneath Summer skies in Honolulu. Miss Rachael Grant was made Mrs. Philip K. Brown at an all white wedding performed in the Old South Church.

BRIDE AND ATTENDANTS

Above, Mrs. Philip Klein Brown (centre) surrounded by her wedding attendants. The maid and matron of honor are standing on either side of the former Rachael Grant, and the bridesmaids are grouped on either side. At left, Mrs. Brown, whose wedding was a distinctive social event hereabouts. Following the church ceremony a reception was given the young couple at the Hotel Somerset ballroom. It was a large affair with dancing by the wedding guests featuring. (All photographs by Boria.)

MISS RACHAEL GRANT WEDS P. K. BROWN

BY COACH AND FOUR, BY MOTOR, ON FOOT AND—IF necessary—by airplane, did the brides of racing enthusiasts descend upon the Country Club today for its second portion of thrills and excitement. No single reservation for luncheon remained untaken, and as for the seventy boxes, they'd been snatched up these many days.

A CARD CHOCK FULL of super attractions was arranged. Two races in the flat—white means to the uninitiated that horses and their riders go tearing pell-mell about the oval track—and four in the mud, for some two miles over Country Club hill and dale, hazards and jumps, was the race fete.

THE "QUANSETT" for three-year-olds, came first on the program. Then that eagerly watched and keenly fought out event, the National Hunt Steeplechase, was third, the afternoon climaxing with the 100 running of the Country Club Grand Annual. Fifth was the "Kortik" and lastly the "Eastern Dog Club."

A CARD TO CONJURE with, truly, and one to bring out in all its glory. The Golden B. Stone box, at the top of the stands, was filled; also the Sidney Winslow box; the Swedish Royalties in Box 14; and General Francis P. Ward, ardent follower of English and American racing, were but a few of the spectators.

"EVENING" was there, for so many spectators were there that the stupendous revival. That the "evening" have come back to the fore for it is due entirely to Eastern Horse Club members, with Messrs. Augustus F. Goodrich, Stuart Tuckerham, Jr., B. Nason Hamilton and John R. Macomber in the lead, asked and achieved by an energetic corps of stewards.

MISS RACHAEL GRANT, lovely bride of Philip Klein Brown, in the Old South Church, achieved the "something different" in wedding dress desired by every girl. Here was an all-white ceremonial, with gorgeous white peonies in enormous clusters at the altar, and all her feminine attendants in white tulle, asked and achieved by an energetic corps of stewards.

TWINKLING TAPERS also tall candlesticks lighted radiantly the long aisle leading to the altar.

Between the Lines

It is mighty easy to read "Between the Lines" in the Sunday Advertiser. That is what C. B. B., the great human interest writer calls his weekly column.

A DIFFERENT TYPE OF BOSTON GIRL

Miss Annabelle Graham of Roxbury, wearing a smart sport costume. The blazer is black and white flannel with pearl buttons; the skirt is white flannel. Miss Graham's hat is the new Alpine Vagabond. A tailored silk blouse, white hose and black suede shoes complete the ensemble.

RARE OLD RUSSIAN lace, brought to this country by the bride's uncle, Mr. William Mayo, it was once the prized possession of a Russian aristocrat, made a wide border for the veil, which was rounded off with a ruche of rose point.

MRS. JONATHAN BROWN, 28, and Miss Gretchen Brown, completing the procession as maid and matron of honor, together with six bridesmaids, were in shining clear white tulle, with skirts silver and a hint of lace.

THEIR HATS, modestly transplanted at the altar, their silencers were of silver with Colonial buckles, and their handkerchiefs were of white sweet peas. Altogether it was a most satisfying picture of bridal beauty.

EFFECTIVELY TURNED out in formal array, Mr. Brown and his staff played no little part in the external pageant. Jonathan Brown, 31, his brother, was best man and the ushers included George H. Grant and James Cranston Chapin, 32, both of them in the wedding party.

MESDAMES BROWN and Grant embellished the scene with stunning costumes. The first named wore a rosewood lace over chiffon, the second a contrasting white gown, the accepted wide mode. Mrs. Brown was in pastel tulle, which was in pastel tulle and carried orchids.

DIRECTLY FOLLOWING the church ceremonial guests went over to the Hotel Somerset for the reception, a large affair, as was the bachelorette party, which was a very festive affair, as was the bachelorette party.

WOMEN'S ARMY 'EMOTION' MADE 'WAR' ON WAR

London, June 19 (A.P.)—The great women's "Army of Peace," made up of hosts who have been tramping from all parts of the country for many days toward London, opened its march today on its way to Hyde Park today.

London's huge playground contained many thousands of crusaders against war and peace thousands continued to stream into the park today, and the march was a broad road that had been designated as the "Road to Peace."

Never before has London witnessed such a congregation of women wearing flat-topped shoes, sun-bleached hair, and carrying banners. Every marcher was a blue arm in the flag of the "Army of Peace."

Many of the women were pacifists, purple and green, but a few wore striped socks of white, blue, and red, representing the colors of the flag of the "Army of Peace."

THANKS MR. HEARST. "Hearst's first act was to write a book when factories, shops and offices were closed and approximately 40,000,000 voters entered the last heat of the bitterest political campaign since the revolution. Engineer 54 Atherton of St. Albans said that the engine and the trucks of the train had left the rails at a grade crossing near the station on June 1, 1926, at 10:15 a.m. He brought the train to a stop, but not before it had crossed a bridge over the river, where it had struck into the water.

The locomotive and six cars remained practically upright, but the train, while the seventh car, which was on the bridge, did not leave the iron. All the cars were sleepers except the first, a combination coach and baggage car.

A train was made up here and the passengers proceeded to destination after several hours' delay.

DECLARES TEAM WORK IS KEY TO PROSPERITY

Eastern Post, Ct. June 19 (A.P.)—The government work week and labor has brought American industry to the point where other countries draw on it for tools, methods and ideas, Lewis E. Brown, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, declared today.

British workers, including eight skilled workers selected from the ranks of labor as leaders, at the most important factors contributing to America's prosperity, Mr. Brown declared.

Geneva, Switzerland, June 19 (A.P.)—France has proposed to the disarmament experts, meeting here, that the only way of comparing naval armaments of the various countries is by total naval tonnage. This raises the question of the effect of the French fleet on the world.

Italy, Italy Hit Pact. Geneva, Switzerland, June 19 (A.P.)—Italy has hit the pact, which was signed by the other powers, and has declared that it will not sign it.

Will Get Big Game If They Don't See Her First

New York, June 19 (I.N.S.)—Mrs. Grace Thompson Nelson, author and big game hunter, was on her way today to South America "to get a leopard and a lion if they don't see me first."

She is a member of the Chicago Field Museum expedition, sailing on the Munson liner Pan American for Rio de Janeiro and the jungles of the interior for three to five months. George K. Cherry, companion of the Roosevelt of the River of Doubt, and the African expedition, leads the group, which includes another woman, Mrs. Marshall Field, 34.

England's Premier Pro Bows to American Ace After Sensational Match

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
London, June 10.—Walter Hagen hung up another golfing victory for America today when he defeated Abe Mitchell, English premier pro, in a sensational match.

During the afternoon round Mitchell made a valiant effort to come back, but the American was too good for him and played steady golf, never giving his opponent any opportunity to enter into the lead again. Hagen's golf was better than ever, for he led the record of a 36-hole match at the Regatta. The odds for the match were 10 to 1 in favor of Hagen.

On the first half of the afternoon round Mitchell, in a 36-hole match, led Hagen, 4-3. Hagen, starting to play 36 holes, four down, fought a fine battle but during the morning round and took advantage of all of his mistakes, to become one up at the 44th hole.

Hagen had 68 for the first 18 holes today, which led the course record for the day. Mitchell was 72 for the first 18 holes.

Hagen scored in halving the first three holes by taking only one putt on each green. He then won the next hole with a birdie. He had a five-foot putt.

Hagen missed a fine chance at the fifth, where Mitchell topped his drive with a birdie. He then took three putts. Mitchell had a five-foot putt to win the sixth with a birdie. The next three holes were halved in par.

Under a meteoric sun, a larger crowd surged after the players to the last hole. Mitchell, in a sensational finish where the two players were tied for the day, won the prize by taking the 18th hole with a birdie.

B. C. Announces Four New Grid Mentors

Boston College graduate athlete director and manager, Frank Reynolds, announced today the appointment of William (Hiker) Joy as first assistant football coach to Major Frank Cavanaugh, head coach at Boston College for the 1920 season.

Reynolds, the Major will have another trio of excellent football coaches to add their assistance in Water "Tony" Comerford, Joe Koslowski and Bill Doyle.

Comerford was selected by many as all-American while playing for B. C. He twice played on the victorious eleven from Newton which conquered Yale. Koslowski at that time was but a freshman, but as time went on he did much to gain honor and distinction for the Maroon and Gold.

Bill Doyle played center on the B. C. eleven following Jack Shepley, and will be used, along with Koslowski and Comerford, to shape up the line.

LABRIOLA SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH McPHERSON

Paul Bowser has signed Leone Labriola, Lion of Italy, to clash with Jack McPherson, Scottish heavyweight, in one of the preliminaries to the Lewis-McGovern championship wrestling bout at Havana Field on July 1.

It will be a one fall to a finish match. This will enable the sturdy Lion to enter the quarter of supremacy. When they clashed recently at the Arena, the Lion was declared a draw after thirty minutes of fierce battling.

The semifinal battle will bring together Stanley Stankin, Polish champion, and Tony Montez, Colorado cowboy, in a one fall contest. While Harry Blanton, American Apollo, will mingle with Frank Yanko, Lithuanian champion, in another fifth round.

Thru the day he will show for his new career. He will then be in the line of the most attractive match ever offered the fans of the city. McPherson has been in the line of the most attractive match ever offered the fans of the city.

Sharkey Must Win to Get Bout With Wills

By JACK CONWAY
JACK SHARKEY must win over Bud German in their ten-round bout at the Buffalo A. C. a heavyweight fight at Havana Field on next Wednesday night if he is to keep in line for a battle with Harry Wills, Lithuanian champion, who Sharkey and Wills as soon as it is definitely known that Gene Tunney will be Jack Dempsey's opponent on September 11.

PADDY MULLINS, Wills' pilot, is willing to sign the Brown Brothers to clash with Sharkey, but for a present agreement for the title, and with Dempsey, it is almost a certainty that Sharkey will be signed as Dempsey's opponent. In which event Wills will be available for a Sharkey bout.

Sharkey was virtually forced to take on German as a first rounder, but he will not be a first rounder. He will be a first rounder. He will be a first rounder. He will be a first rounder.

THE KID - By TAD

He Fills a Paupers Grave

THE KID - By TAD

HE didn't last long, poor kid. He drifted from one place to another after he was kicked out of the former manager's saloon. Up and down the Bowery he reeled, like a ship without a rudder. He had no place to go. He went wherever he thought he could get a drink. No one knew the kid's name.

He was found in a doorway one cold morning by a policeman. He had sold his coat and was freezing to death. They took him to the station, and there they learned that the kid was dying.

In two days he was dead, and as no one claimed his body he was buried in a pauper's grave with a little stick over him. The grave-digger remembered the spot. He knew that at one time the kid was a fighter because someone had mentioned it when his body was brought there. He didn't remember his name or what he had done, but he was a fighter.

"Bogie fighter, I don't remember his name," he said. "He was a prince once, when he was on top. When he lost his title he lost heart and all."

"He was a good fellow when he had it."

COOK-DOOS by Ted Cook

It's getting so there are almost as many bank vice-presidents as there are bootleggers.

Perhaps it has been found economically sound to bestow a title rather than a salary increase.

Mr. Blank—Miss McGinty, will you take this dictation?

Blank—Don't try to outdo me around, mister. You're only a vice-president.

Some of the bank vice-presidents know how it felt to be a second lieutenant in the late war.
